

Adam Shrager

January 25th- February 5th

I haven't done much since my last journal. I am smack in the middle of an annual massive and time sensitive project other than this one. I did plan for this in my PMD and don't anticipate that this will cause any setbacks that affect my final project. Like previously stated in my last journal, I have done some thinking about my map. By my next entry I hope to be able to bring a solid map plan to my technical advisor to help me use the API to start making the maps.